Enjoy lunch on the terrace, in the shade of the plane trees, before strolling along the Sentier des Ogres de Roussillon. This uniquely preserved site offers spectacular scenery and remarkable variations in natural color.

Depart Roussillon for Lourmarin.

En route, we invite you to visit the picturesque Provencal villages of Lacoste and Bonnieux.

Lacoste is a charming hilltop village in the Luberon. It is best known for its château, once owned by the famous Marquis de Sade. For over 20 years, it has been the property of fashion designer Pierre Cardin. The village is also home to the Savannah College of Art and Design, a veritable American university campus, whose many traces can be seen as you wander through its pretty streets. A few kilometers on a superb Provencal road, you'll reach the hilltop village of Bonnieux, offering spectacular views over the Luberon landscape.

Once again, it's a short, beautiful drive to Lourmarin.

Settle into your room, just 5 minutes from Lourmarin.

You'll be staying on a superb wine-growing estate.

Day 5 : Lourmarin

Breakfast, then off to the Lourmarin farmers' market. Every Tuesday, a restaurant chef arrives at the market with his or her equipment to prepare one of his or her recipes, much to the delight of gourmets.

After a tour of the estate's vineyards and explanations from Antoine, the cellar master, your afternoon can be spent relaxing by the pool, or on a hike that takes in the Luberon from the Durance to Mont Ventoux (7 km / 3h walk).

Dinner in one of Lourmarin's many restaurants.

Day 6 : Lourmarin / Saint-Rémy-de-Provence (70 km)

Today's route takes you from the Parc Naturel Régional du Luberon to the Parc Naturel Régional des Alpilles.

Splendid small roads will offer you magnificent scenery, until you reach the foot of the Alpilles limestone massif. The Mediterranean vegetation will seduce you with its southern scents. Pass through the charming village of Eygalières before reaching Saint-Rémy-de-Provence.

Check into your hotel.

This afternoon, you'll discover the Domaine de La Vallongue. You'll reach it via a long pine alley bordered by vineyards and olive groves.
